OVERVIEW

Chiropractic is a healthcare profession that focus on disorders of the musculoskeletal and nervous system, and the effects of these disorders on functions of the body and general health. Chiropractic care is used most often to treat neuromusculoskeletal complaints, especially of the spine. Treatment may be of the lower back, thoracic, and cervical areas of the spine.³ Chiropractors use the recuperative powers of the body to restore and maintain health without drugs or surgery.

MEDICAL CRITERIA

Not applicable.

PRIOR AUTHORIZATION

Prior authorization review is not required.

POLICY STATEMENT

BlueCHiP for Medicare.

BlueCHiP for Medicare coverage limits services to spinal manual manipulation only, all other services performed or ordered by a chiropractor are non-covered.

Subluxation is defined in this instance as an incomplete dislocation, off centering; misalignment, fixation, or abnormal spacing of the vertebrae anatomically and usually falls into one of three categories:

- Acute, such as strains and sprains; or
- Chronic, such as loss of joint mobility; or
- Nerve root problems, such as a pinched nerve.

BlueCHiP for Medicare does not allow chiropractic providers to order, perform or interpret X-rays and/or diagnostic tests.

An Advance Beneficiary Notice (ABN) is not used for items or services provided under the BlueCHiP for Medicare program. If a provider believes a service will not be covered by the plan, the provider is expected to request a pre-service organization determination from the plan. If the provider does not request a pre-service organization determination prior to rendering the services, the provider will be liable for the cost of the services. BlueCHiP for Medicare members will be held harmless.

Commercial Products

Chiropractic services are covered based on the benefit limit of the applicable members benefit plan.

Per diem rates apply to Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Rhode Island (BSBSRI)-participating providers for all Commercial products only.

The following services are included in the per diem rates:

- Evaluation and Management (E&M) Services (99201-99205, 99211-99215)
- Chiropractic Manipulation Services (98940-98943)
- Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Modality Codes (97012-97036)

- Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Therapeutic Procedure Codes (97110-97530)
- Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Test and Measurement Codes (97750-97755)
- Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Orthotic(s)/prosthetic(s) management and/or training, upper extremity(ies), lower extremity(ies), and/or trunk, subsequent orthotic(s)/prosthetic(s) encounter, each 15 minutes ((97760, 97761, 97763)

NOTE: Per diem E&M service reimbursement rates vary between new and established patients.

Laboratory procedures and radiological examinations can be performed and ordered by chiropractic physicians for all commercial products and reimbursed according to the applicable benefit for that service rendered.

- Codes listed below for laboratory procedures, radiological examinations and durable medical equipment are not part of the per diem reimbursement rate and are the only codes that may be separately reimbursed.
- All chiropractic services performed on the same date of service will count as one visit towards the member's benefit limit.

Place of Service

Chiropractic services are limited to office settings and are not covered when performed in the home, nursing, residential, domiciliary, or custodial facility for all BCBSRI products including BlueCHiP for Medicare.

COVERAGE

Benefits may vary between groups/contracts. Please refer to the appropriate Evidence of Coverage or Subscriber Agreement for applicable chiropractic services, diagnostic imaging, lab and machine tests coverage/benefits.

The number of Chiropractic visits allowed per year may vary according to the member's specific benefit.

BACKGROUND

Every state has licensing or certification laws that clearly define the services a chiropractor may provide.

According to Rhode Island General Laws (RIGL) § 5-30-1

"Chiropractic medicine" defined. – For the purpose of this chapter, the practice of "chiropractic medicine" is defined as the science and art of mechanical and material healing as follows: the employment of a system of palpating and adjusting the articulations of the human spinal column and its appendages, by hand and electromechanical appliances, and the employment of corrective orthopedics and dietetics for the elimination of the cause of disease; provided, that chiropractic physicians may not write prescriptions for drugs for internal medication nor practice major surgery as defined in chapter 37 of this title.

Chiropractic manipulative therapy (CMT) primarily focuses on the adjustment and manipulation of a joint articulation and adjacent tissues of the body, particularly of the spinal column. CMT is used to restore normal mobility and range of motion (ROM) in a joint due to subluxation. The effects of manipulation can be categorized as either mechanical or neurological.

Subluxation/biomechanical dysfunction of a joint is defined as a reduction/lack of motion, i.e., hypo mobility, aberrant motion of an articular joint or a fixation of the joint. The neurological mechanism issue, with its classic theory of a "pinched nerve" offers a model that includes both direct and indirect effects on the function of the peripheral and central nervous system resulting from spinal dysfunction.¹ Pain, swelling, muscle spasm, nerve irritation with radiating pain and spasm, damage to joint cartilage, and loss of normal ROM may result from the physiological changes caused by mechanical or neurological effects of subluxation.

Adjunctive physical medicine/physical therapy modalities are used to prepare and enhance the manipulation by the chiropractor. A chiropractor typically uses manipulation, adjustment, physiotherapy, and support devices in clinical practice.

Osteopathic Manipulative Treatment

Osteopathic Manipulative Treatment codes 98925-98929 should not be confused with Chiropractic Manipulative Treatment codes 98940-98943. Osteopathic treatment method is administered by a Doctor of Osteopathic Medicine, or a D.O., who is licensed to prescribe medication and can practice in all specialty areas as well as perform surgery,⁵ while a chiropractic physician's scope of practice is limited.
