* Aperture is a BCBSRI vendor responsible for completing primary source verification for credentialing. Once Aperture completes their review, the credentialing file is sent back to BCBSRI.

The Council for Affordable Quality Healthcare

What is CAQH? CAQH is a repository for providers to upload their personal and business information in one location that can then be shared with insurance companies when they wish to participate.

Why do participating providers need to use CAQH?

- ❖ Uploaded information can be used for multiple insurance companies to access for credentialing
- ❖ No need to re-fill out an application for recredentialing
- ❖ Easy upload for required documents
- ❖ Grant insurance companies permission to see your information

Helpful Hints and Doula Support

Doula Provider Relations
Representative is Monica Boulay

1 Remember to check your junk/spam folders as there are times the emails from our Credentialing Team do end up there.

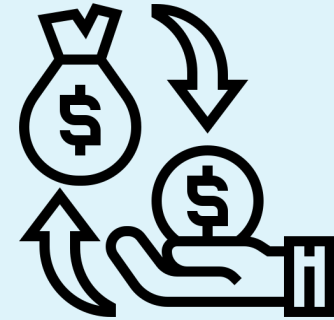

2 All credentialing applications contain your personal information. BCBSRI will encrypt all emails to ensure your personal and financial information is safe. If you are having trouble opening encrypted email, contact the Doula Provider Relations Representative, Monica Boulay.

3 Due to regulatory requirement, BCBSRI sends emails every 15 days to provide you with a status of your credentialing application. This email will advise if there are any missing documents and where your application is in the process. If you feel you have submitted the documentation stated to be missing, please contact Monica and she can confirm.
