OVERVIEW

Observation care provides interim services in place of an inpatient admission that allows necessary time to reasonably evaluate and provide needed services to a member whose diagnosis and treatment are not expected to exceed 24 hours, but no longer than forty-eight (48) hours without discharge or admission. Observation care is considered a medical service received in any location within a hospital. Observation care can, for example, be delivered in a hospital emergency room, an area designated as "observation," a bed within a unit, or an entire unit designated as an observation area.

POLICY STATEMENT

BlueCHiP for Medicare and Commercial Products

Observation services are covered only when:

- Ordered by a physician or another individual authorized by State licensure law and hospital staff bylaws to admit patients to the hospital or to order outpatient services.
- The chart order indicates the physician's intent regarding level of care intended, such as "admit to observation" with a date and time (the order must be included in the patient's medical record).
- An "Admit Stamp" or preprinted order must include the signature of the physician, and the date and time of the order

NOTE: BCBSRI will not reimburse "standing orders" for Observation Services.

Separately Reimbursed Services:

The following services when provided in conjunction with observation services will be separately reimbursed:

- Emergency department services;
- Surgical procedures; and
- MRI and MRA

NOTE: The administration of chemotherapy while in observation status is not separately reimbursed. Chemotherapy administration before admission to observation is separately reimbursed as well as the observation stay.

Reimbursement:

When Observation Stay Begins

Admission to observation begins at the clock time documented in the medical record when the patient clearly transitions to observation level of care (i.e., is placed in an observation bed), as confirmed by the initiation of services rendered and documented, in accordance with the directions on the physician order.

When Observation Stay Ends

Observation time ends when all medically necessary services related to observation care are completed.

*Observation time may include follow-up observation care provided after the time that the physician writes the discharge order, but before the patient is actually discharged. Alternatively, the end time of observation services may coincide with the time the patient is actually discharged from the hospital or admitted as an inpatient. However, observation time does not include the time patients remain in the hospital after treatment is finished, for reasons such as waiting for transportation home.

Outpatient Procedures Related to Observation Hours

Routine preoperative preparation, monitoring and postoperative recovery is included in the allowance for surgery. Prolonged services that require placing the patient in observation status are not eligible for payment unless a 6 hour threshold of post-operative monitoring is exceeded, regardless of the location of the postoperative monitoring.

Observation Care to Inpatient For Non- Diagnosis-related group DRG Facilities (DRG facilities - reference policy “DRG Facilities: Outpatient Services Treated as Inpatient Services.”)

- Outpatient observation services provided on the day prior to an inpatient admission will be reimbursed as an outpatient service. The calculation for observation time will end at 12 midnight of the day of observation care.

For example, on June 1 a patient is outpatient observation status. On June 2, the patient is admitted to inpatient care at 2:00 p.m. in the afternoon. The time spent in observation care ceases to be counted as observation time at 11:59 p.m. on June 1. The hours spent between 12 midnight and 1:59 p.m. will not be calculated as observation time, as it is inclusive of the inpatient service.

- A patient admitted to inpatient care on the same day as outpatient observation; all services provided as part of observation care will be reimbursed as inpatient hospitalization.
- A patient may not be discharged to outpatient observation status after an inpatient hospital admission.

MEDICAL CRITERIA

BACKGROUND

As defined by Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS), observation care is a well-defined set of specific, clinically appropriate services, which include ongoing short term treatment, assessment, and reassessment before a decision can be made regarding whether patients will require further treatment as hospital inpatients or if they are able to be discharged from the hospital. Observation services are commonly ordered for patients who present to the emergency department and who then require a significant period of treatment or monitoring in order to make a decision concerning their admission or discharge.

Observation services are covered only when provided by the order of a physician or another individual authorized by State licensure law and hospital staff bylaws to admit patients to the hospital or to order outpatient tests. In the majority of cases, the decision whether to discharge a patient from the hospital following resolution of the reason for the observation care or to admit the patient as an inpatient can be made in less than 48 hours, usually in less than 24 hours. In only rare and exceptional cases do reasonable and necessary outpatient observation services span more than 48 hours.

When a physician orders that a patient receive observation care, the patient’s status is that of an outpatient. The purpose of observation is to determine the need for further treatment or for inpatient admission
